HOMEWORK: Every day I will give you a homework assignment that is between 5 and 10 questions in length. Each assignment should take you less than 2 hours to complete. All homework will be posted on my website as well as announced during class. I find that the best way to learn mathematics is to actually do math yourself and do it correctly. Thus each homework will be graded as follows. Half the grade will be based on whether you turn in the assignment on time and completed. For the other half I will mark each problem as either correct or incorrect. If the problem is incorrect you will receive no credit for that problem. You will be allowed to redo any and all homework problems to get full points back. Homework will be due the class period after it was assigned. Any and all corrections will be due within 2 weeks.
QUIZES: Every day I will have a quiz that will be based on the previous day’s homework assignments. No calculators will be needed on the quiz. Also I will drop four quizzes thus no make up quizzes will be given.

EXAMS: 2 midterm exams will be given. The tentative exam dates will be June 28th and July 26th. The exam will be an hour long so we will be having class both before and after the exam. If you think you might miss an exam or have a valid reason for being away from school on the test day please tell me as soon as possible before the exam so that we can schedule a time for you to take it before you leave.
