

polar ice caps critical to global climate in reflecting incoming solar radiation white snow and ice

reflect

dark water and land
absorb